

A photograph of the interior of the Red Lantern restaurant. The scene is viewed through a glass entrance, showing a long, narrow dining area with a patterned carpet. Several people are seated at tables, and staff members are visible in the background. The lighting is warm and ambient, with red lanterns hanging from the ceiling. A large potted plant is visible on the right side of the frame.

"Things sparkle at Riley Street like never before... An airy, elegant take on the Indochine look, rich in antique fittings and shutters and wrought in carved screens, hanging bulbs, cool tile, and timber. Framed family photos and aged mirrors adorn the walls. Here's a marble communal table, there's a glassed-in kitchen."

- Gourmet Traveller

"A smart designer fit-out that nostalgically recalls Vietnam's French colonial past. Smart hand-made floor tiles mix it with faded floral wallpaper, marble-topped tables, family memorabilia."
